

Customized Training Services

Focus on Business Objectives and Employee Development Needs

Select Strategy adopts a holistic approach to training.

Select Strategy compiles customized training courses based on organizational objectives and employee needs.

Training plans are formulated according to business needs as well as joint goal setting between employees and managers. The focus is on achieving short-term goals towards longer-term personal and business development objectives.

We create interactive training courses that allow employees to progress at their own pace.

Practical online courses and exercises are also custom designed and created by our highly experienced team to reflect your specific environment and processes. The duration, course structure and training time ensure maximum memory retention and learning.

Our highly skilled writers, organizational psychologists and human factors engineers design courses that help employees understand, learn and improve their productivity and feeling of well-being. We work with your internal subject matter experts and also partner with relevant outside technical specialists where appropriate.

Training benefits include:

- 8 Information which is easy to follow and understand
- 8 Carefully designed online multiple choice questions
- 8 Stimulating online scenarios, simulations and case studies for business specific processes
- 8 Automatic record keeping of course completion and the tracking and analysis of results

Select Strategy training is interactive, fun, useful and motivating.
